Under the direction of Gene England, Reality House seeks to divert female juvenile offenders from the criminal justice system and to rehabilitate those already within the system.

According to the Seaside Chief of Police Bennie W. Cooper:

"During the past three years, those juvenile girls completing the program have shown a success rate and lack of recidivism which is truly remarkable. Over 90 percent of the graduates of this program have had no further negative contact with law enforcement."

Fees Return To Seaside

The City of Seaside has received $7,378 as its six-month share of the special fees paid by holders of alcoholic beverage licenses.

The payment was made by the state's department of alcoholic beverage control which allocates 90 percent of all license fee money back to individual cities and counties where it is used to offset the costs of police and fire protection, schools, highways, hospitals and other government services. The remaining 10 percent goes into the state's general fund where it is used for similar purposes.

The most recent payment was for the six-month period ending February 29, 1972.

School Official Disputes Seaside Mayor Statement

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District has shown "normal courtesies" in arranging for a transition from military police and fire protection at Seaside High School to similar services from the City of Seaside.

That was school Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf's response June 5 to a statement made the week before by Seaside Mayor Joe Dolan. In a news report following the Seaside City Council's meeting of June 1, Dolan was quoted as criticizing the school district for not giving the city adequate notice that Seaside High would require city services.

Late last month, the school district gained title to the Seaside High property, which had belonged to the federal government and been serviced by personnel at Fort Ord. When the title was transferred, Petersdorf wrote a letter to the City of Seaside, notifying the city of the transfer and formally requesting city services.

Dolan was quoted as saying, in response to the request, that the school system had shown "a total disregard for even the normal courtesies."

Petersdorf read a statement at the school board meeting "in an attempt to clear up any misunderstanding about the conduct of this school district or its representatives" in dealing with the city.

He noted that school representatives have been meeting with city officials since mid-October, 1971 "to discuss details of the impending transfer of jurisdiction and the need for such services."

The superintendent stated that former City Manager Milton Farrell and Planning Director William Burris told school representatives on October 13 that they foresaw no problems in providing police and fire protection. Petersdorf listed dates of several meetings held between Seaside High School and Seaside Police Department representatives to discuss details of required police services.

"I think these meetings demonstrate that the school district showed, from the beginning, a concern for a smooth transition from military to civilian jurisdiction and a concern for 'normal courtesies,'" the superintendent said.

To show appreciation for cooperation from military authorities in providing services for the high school, the school board directed that a resolution be prepared.

RAPmobile To Test In Summer

Summer is no vacation time for the RAPmobile and the volunteer workers who staff it giving the RAP test and information regarding alcoholism and early detection and treatment of the disease. The white Ford Falcon van with the big red and blue lettering will be seen this month of June in neighborhoods on a schedule similar to that of the Monterey County and Monterey Public Library Bookmobiles.

Since the unit started making visits in March to schools, markets and post offices, over 2000 tests have been taken by interested persons over age 15. Significantly the largest number scored low-risk, or safe or safe with no danger of addictive problems as long as their life situation remains unchanged. Fifteen percent scored medium risk and 10 percent were found to test high, or in the group to reconsider drinking or other addictive habits.

The test is given free and is a confidential, self-scoring test. Whenever you see the RAPmobile giving tests, do feel free to stop and take the test and RAP.

"Adam was a man made of clay, And God made all of us just that way, He colored clay in yellow, black, or red with blood, And the verdict that He passed was 'Good, very good.'"

A.E. Barragan

Most columns written by me in the absence of Mr. Barragan, are written, understandably, at "dead-line" time. The reason for that is to allow for last minute developments and changes. There will be no last minute developments this week. The column this week is based on personal expressions, which should have been expressed earlier. And, since I do have a boss, there just may not be a column next week under my name.

A couple weeks ago I said it was best to be THOUGHT a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt; well, I'm going to put my foot in it.

In the past week I have attended several social affairs, given in behalf of one thing or another. The Chamber of Commerce Get Acquainted Party on the edge of Seaside at the Sir Discount Building; to the Project Concerned Luncheon at Neptune's Table on the Wharf; to the California Rodeo Dinner on the edge of Monterey at the Outrigger and a few private meetings and conversations around the Peninsula. Invariably the conversation leads up to how the newspaper stands on one issue or the other, especially

Chamber of Commerce Honors Captain Gaines

Strength through unity is an old motto, but in Seaside it is gaining new meaning. The Seaside Chamber of Commerce is increasing communications in the entire community and helping to stimulate interest in the problems and prospects for Seaside.

Capt. R.Y. Gaines, retiring Chief-of-Staff at the Navy Postgraduate School, was instrumental in creating the spark needed to build momentum for a strong Chamber of Commerce in Seaside. He carried his attitude of optimism through the ups and downs of the past four years in Seaside and his reward is the increasing interest and enthusiasm which has developed in the Chamber.

Through Capt. Gaines suggestions, it was possible to view an excellent slide presentation "The Seaside Story" prepared by students in Class 220, taught by Professor Bill Boggess at the Navy School. Cmdr. Joe Nicholas and Lt. Cmdr. Steve Wilkins briefed representatives from the entire Peninsula on the past, present and future of this progressive community. Displays from the City Planning Department, the Redevelopment Agency and various businesses in Seaside helped to enliven the highly successful Wine Tasting Party held at the Rol-Seal Corp., sponsored by the Seaside Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, June 7.

In recognition of his outstanding service to the community of Seaside, Capt. Gaines received a plaque to commemorate the years he spent on the Board of Directors of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce.

THE STATION THAT LISTENS TO PEOPLE

Meeting Was Held In Boston

"Christian Healing: The demand on Everyone" was the theme of a recent meeting in Boston attended by Christian Scientists from around the world, including a number from the Monterey Peninsula area.

In a special message to the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, on June 5, Arthur P. Wuth, the new Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, called on the members to dedicate themselves anew to the practice of Christian healing.

"Each one heal one is the imperative of today," Mr. Wuth declared, specifically noting the "great need of healing" drug addiction and disease, poverty and materialism.

Firsthand evidence of the immense practicality of Christian healing is presented each week at Wednesday evening testimony meetings held at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monterey and other branches of The Mother Church in the Monterey Peninsula area, according to Katherine Cochran, the Assistant Committee on Publication for Monterey and Seaside.

It was announced at the meeting that the 28-story Church Administration Building and the 5-story Church Colonnade, with its film and broadcasting studios, would be completed late this year. The new Sunday School Building has been in regular use since October 1971.

No figures were released at the meeting on the overall cost of the massive new Center.

But the Treasurer of The Mother Church, Roy Garrett Watson, stated that the work is going forward without fundraising campaigns or indebtedness of any kind.

Increased interest in Christian healing in overseas areas including Black Africa was reported at the meeting.

In Nigeria recently, a shipment of fifty copies of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "was sold out by a single Reading Room in twenty-four hours -- and a rush order placed for more," an official said.

Arthur P. Wuth, the new Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, is a native of Denver, Colorado. He has served the Christian Science movement in many capacities including Committee on Publication for Colorado, Christian Science lecturer, First Reader of The Mother Church, and Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society. A Christian Science teacher, he now resides in Boston. Since 1964 he has been a member of the Board of Directors, the denomination's top administrative body.

Stan Kenton To Appear at Festival

Stan Kenton, whose big bands have been incubators for major jazz talents since the early forties, will bring his orchestra to the Monterey Jazz Festival this year. The appearance on opening night of the Fifteenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival, Friday, September 15, will mark the first time a Kenton led group will have been on stage at the big music festival.

"We have wanted Stan at a Festival for years, but his heavy schedule was always out of phase with our September dates," says Jimmy Lyons, founder and general manager of the Monterey Jazz Festival. Lyons, long-time personal friend of Kenton, was instrumental in helping the leader- pianist gain early fame for his band in 1941 when it played at the Rendezvous Ballroom at California's Balboa Beach.

Kenton has led a big band on and off since that time and for the past several years has fronted what he feels is his best musical organization. The current band is characterized by its hard swinging, vibrant section work and heavy emphasis on improvised solos, according to Lyons.

Throughout his career,

Kenton has been closely associated with concert jazz and the development of new young performers. Through the years the Kenton sound has been identifiable by its rich, perhaps thick, brass and reed sounds that soar in an almost Wagnerian manner, and by its frequent screaming brass passages. Although a fine pianist, noted for lengthy, introductory glissandos, it has been as a leader and not as a performer that Kenton has made his mark on the history of the music. The tall lean figure of Stan Kenton standing midway between an alert band and an expectant audience thrusting out one hip in a position of tension, kicking off a number with a finger snap, has become a visual symbol of jazz for 30 years.

The Monterey Jazz Festival consists of five differently programmed concerts--Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons. It is held in the 7000-seat outdoor arena on the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Season tickets for all five concerts are now on sale at less than box office prices for the individual concerts. For information contact the Monterey Jazz Festival, P. O. Box JASS, Monterey, California, telephone 373-3366.

politically. After this subject has been washed, dried, and pressed, I am asked how I personally feel about one issue of the other, not necessarily political.

I have always noticed that people are expecting you to agree with most everything they themselves agree on. By your answers they are either going to like you or dislike you. And your answers are just about geared to whether you want them to like or dislike you. (A lot of people will argue that point, but that is because they haven't paid much attention to themselves).

The point I am leading up to (forgive me boss) is I am a lover of the peace. My heart is even shaped like a dove. Anytime I can just wiggle a finger or don't wiggle a finger, and it brings peace, I am for that. And mostly because I am that way, certain people are pushing. I hate to be pushed. It arouses the beast in me. If I ever get caught in a corner I push back surprisingly hard. I usually win because no one expects a dove to act like a hawk. So they are caught off balance. The reason I am revealing my character, which was not solicited, is because I do not want to be pushed into a corner. Our newspaper does not print violence, character defamations or any of the many "name-calling" articles. There are several reasons for that. The violence you can get from other media. The other, if you have a "beef" with someone you should take it up with them personally, and not use the newspaper as a middle man.

Because of my recent stand on that (and it was my personal decision without consulting my boss, for which I apologize to him again), I have been accused of taking sides. Of course if I agreed with the people who asked me to switch, they wouldn't accuse me of taking sides. I here and now admit that one such article slipped through which to me did indeed make puns towards a particular ethnic group and was published. Now I am just about obligated to allow a rebuttal to that publication. We shall make it clear that the many columns (and they are getting crowded) published in the SEASIDE POST-News Sentinel should hold to their original purpose.

If it is a column written by an elected official, that column should contain only the subject matter in regards to the position of the official. In fact he, or she, has a duty to the community to keep the people informed or aware of what they are doing to retain their confidence and assure them that they did not throw a vote away when they elected him, or her, to that office in good faith.

If it is a society column, that column should contain only such items that pertain to the social aspects of the community. This keeps the community involved and eventually should weave them closer together.

If it is a column neither official or social, it should be one of interest to everyone, or at least informative. It could be even a bit humorous.

We are not crusaders here. There is a larger newspaper here on the peninsula, in fact several, and they have guidelines of their own. If our guidelines are not sufficient, perhaps one of the other papers would be glad to crusade or even crucify other people. We do not think that way.

When my boss reads this he will probably be lying in the sand behind the Holiday Inn, where he walks almost daily now; and I can see him running at top speed to the office with papers for me to sign. He is progressing so swiftly it is impossible to predict what he may do next.

"Faith can move mountains."

Your Supervisor Reports

Loren E. Smith

COUNTY EMPLOYEES, PERSONNEL POLICIES and EMPLOYER RELATIONS as related to Monterey County and to Government Employees in general are matters to which a great part of my time has been devoted since I have been Supervisor for the 4th District.

A review of the record will show that it was not long after taking office that action was instituted to commence reviewing personnel matters and my part in setting up the beginning of a separate personnel division gave me a feeling of constructive accomplishment. Since that time my efforts to convince other Board members of the great importance of proper personnel management, the position of "Personnel Director" has been established and in addition a personnel office has been located at the MONTEREY COURT HOUSE to make it more accessible for Monterey Peninsula residents to apply for employment with the County. This office is now open daily from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday thru Friday.

My past business experience has taught me that happy employees are the mainstay of any good organization and employees must feel that they are treated fairly and paid on a scale that is commensurate with other employment. One of the greatest costs to any organization is a high rate of employee turnover which results in loss of efficiency and much lost time in constant training and retraining. It is my strong belief that we must continue to accelerate our efforts to institute programs to broaden the opportunity for more people to work in County Government by abolishing all unnecessary and artificial barriers, train new employees carefully so they may perform their duties in a manner that gives them a sense of satisfaction in doing a good job, and providing FULL OPPORTUNITY within our "COUNTY FAMILY OF EMPLOYEES" for up-grading and promoting those who perform their duties well and prepare themselves for advancement.

Presently I am a member of the Governor's Advisory Council on Public Employment and am Chairman of the County Supervisors State Association. Committee on Personnel Management. Many hours of my time have been spent this year in meetings of these Committees, studying personnel problems which affect our County along with many others. The ideas and thinking which result from such meetings can be very helpful in our own personnel management problems and it is my hope that I can continue to contribute to the up-grading of County Personnel Management.

Bob Wood Reports

This is election year again and unless I read you folks at home incorrectly, you get as tired of supporting your candidate financially as we Legislators get in going through the necessary routine every two years to ask for this financial support. I can't help but feel a percentage of this money could be put to a better advantage if it stayed with the donor to begin with and because of this I intend to co-author the following bill that would place a ceiling on the amount any representative could spend regardless of whether he or she be a Democrat or a Republican or a member of an independent party.

Candidates for public offices in California spent about $26 million in 1970. That means that for each citizen who actually voted about $4 was spent on him personally by candidates seeking to attract his favor.

This year, a presidential year, that figure will swell dramatically. The economics of campaigning is becoming a matter of grave public concern and rightfully so. Not only do the dollar figures needed to conduct an effective campaign put politics out of the reach of many independent citizens of moderate means, but also the costs of

A woman was screaming, and I could hear what sounded like someone's head being banged against a wall, which turned out later to be exactly what I had heard. Anyway, I ran out into the yard, and suddenly the noise stopped. Four young men were standing out there talking. I asked them what was going on, and about the time they pointed to a house across the street, the screaming and the head-banging began again.

I ran toward the house, tripped twice over some stakes in their vegetable garden, and then banged on the door, demanding to know what was going on in there. To make a long story short, I was lucky. I didn't get shot, didn't get stuck with a knife, and better yet, the young man who was beating his wife's head against the wall thanked me for being concerned enough to get involved. Right after I left, however, the screaming and the banging started again, so I called the local fuzz and suggested they talk with the young couple and maybe save them from serious damage. So, they came, and they talked, and as far as I know that young couple now live happily ever after.

The next morning I read of a similar happening in another city - a case that did not turn out so well. A man was beating his wife, who managed to get away from him long enough to get out of the house. She then tried repeatedly to get neighbors to help her, but they refused to open their doors, and her husband caught up with her and killed her with a knife, all of which reminds us of the Kitty Genovese murder in the Kew Gardens district of New York City a number of years ago, where something like forty people watched for about thirty minutes while a man attacked a girl with a knife and finally killed her. And not one of the watchers called the police until after the girl was dead. Didn't want to spoil the show, apparently.

The moral of the whole thing is, don't be the one needing help, if you can help it because much of the rhetoric about caring about others is quite empty when the time comes for action, and we can find excellent examples of this on almost any level we care to examine. We deplore the housing conditions and lack of adequate income many of our people must live with, but we prefer to squander our wealth on a trip to the moon or a space probe to Mars. We call capital punishment cruel and inhuman punishment while we vote to continue dropping napalm on people to get them to like our form of government. So, the rhetoric is pretty empty, and likely always has been since history began and probably will be until we finally prove our point, whatever it is.

The Los Angeles Times supported the bill in an editorial earlier this month. I wouldn't be surprised if some of our own local papers might not support it once they have a chance to check the contents of the bill. Additionally, a great number of local and state political and social commentators have voiced strong support for the concept of campaign expenditure limitations. The need for this kind of legislation I personally feel is urgent.

The issue of campaign expenditure limitations should be dealt with now. And the sooner the better. Without some dramatic reforms campaigning for elective office may soon preclude legislative decision making.

PROCLAMATION

The Fourth of July will mark the 196th anniversary of the founding of our nation. As we celebrate this historic date, our nation is faced with its greatest challenge; a burgeoning population, restless youth impatient for fulfillment of our nation's ideals, demands for greater civil rights, and the sapping of our country's moral strength through increased crime, drug abuse and poverty.

Communities throughout the nation are declaring this Independence Day, July 4th, as a day to "Honor America" in an effort to encourage an expression of appreciation for the blessings and greatness of our country.

It is the opinion of this office that this activity should be recognized as an effort to unite Americans at a time when our patriotism and respect for the nation's purposes should be encouraged by all responsible citizens.

Therefore, by virtue of the powers vested in this office, I as Mayor of our city do hereby proclaim Tuesday, July 4, 1972, as "Honor America Day" and call upon all citizens, organizations, churches, schools, and lay groups to recognize this special day through appropriate programs.

Letters To The Editor

Editor: We are what we are. Part of our inheritance is a degree of suspicion, fear and hate from our evolutionary, primitive past. Unfortunately, in some people these instincts run riot - due to lack of control! So, they look all about with a jaundiced eye, suspecting everyone, seeing nothing but "conspiracy."

Some of them wave the fanatical banner of ultra-conservatism. They mouth a special brand of political mumbo-jumbo. Others march behind an equally extremist flag of ultra-radicalism. They have their own brand of political jargon. Savage hate are in the eyes of both groups. They hate each other; they hate mankind!

Oh, how easy it is to blame everything that one does not like on a conspiring foe - a devil - who is here, there, everywhere! It simplifies things; one doesn't have to think! Wild tribes are noted for just this outlook.

It's true, that even in the most democratic societies there are a few who band together in unlawful, treacherous and violent activities harmful to the public. It doesn't follow, however, that most or all of a nation's problems are due to "conspiracies." Do not psychiatrists know of the quirk, or malfunction, of some minds that can make them prone to look for "conspiracies" behind every lamp post?

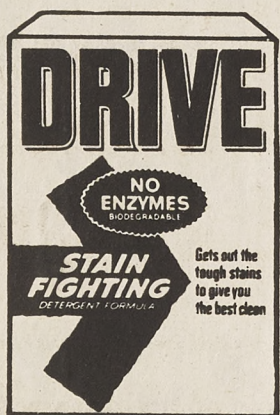

It takes a kindly heart, intelligence, patience, and the art to know when one must compromise, in order to meet the challenges bound to crop up periodically in human society. It takes hard work, sound knowledge, a desire for improvement, and a dedication to responsible democracy, to help make our America what we want it to be if we have vision - more beautiful, healthier, prosperous, ethical, a happier place for all its citizens, not just those who are lucky, privileged, gifted - or crafty.

What wise, humane, constructive suggestions for our country have those who are hung up on fear, envy, hate, suspicion, and repeat endlessly: "Beware of conspiracies?" Do they not imply: "Heads must roll! Shades of Hitler and Stalin - are such people straining to impose a bloody dictatorship? Have they learned nothing from history? Do they not know that in the end they may be destroyed, too? God helps all if the numbers of the madmen increase! More than ever do we need calmness, logic, a sense of fairness, the ability to face up to reality, and a loving character."

Sincerely yours,
George Herman,

Grooving Around the Peninsula with Betty Mann

Hi There, Fellow Peninsulans

Last week was quite an eventful week here on the Peninsula, as well as elsewhere. Julian Bond, the smooth talking Black Georgia Legislator, charmed not only the females with his "uptight, out of sight" political rap, but he charmed the brothers as well.

During his speech, Julian stated that his brother-in-law was Angela Davis' attorney and he knew that everything was going to be alright because Georgians send out only the best! He predicted that all would be well, and for us Californians to hurry and send him home. Within two days, believe it or not, Angela was freed. Now isn't that a beautiful premonition???

Speaking of my sister, Angela: "Thank God Almighty, she's free at last."

On Sunday, the gloomiest and chilliest day for June weather, I was lying down taking a nap, to be awakened very suddenly by my 12-year-old son, Marc, who came to my room and very excitedly screamed, "Mom! Mom! Wake up, Angela Davis has been acquitted, it's on the news! Mom, come quick and see her on television." As I hopped out of my bed, joy and gladness overtook my soul and body. As I watched Angela, with her family and many friends and supporters cry with happiness and joy, I also cried tears of happiness and joy, that finally one of my Black Sisters, who had endured so much pain and heartache; who was ridiculed as well as hated by so many; loved and cherished by just as many, was finally free at last. My 12-year-old son looked at the tears streaming down my face and said to me: "Mom, why are you crying, and what happens now?" I responded that I was crying because I was happy for Angela, as well as for so many other oppressed people who had given up hope in the system under which we live and perhaps now the depressing racial climate in America is clearing up for the best.

Whether my son understood all of what I was trying to explain to him or not, he walked away to continue observing the baseball game that was being shown on the TV in another room. Perhaps this is good that our youngsters can turn their minds so quickly to pleasanter things.

I often think wouldn't it be wonderful if all adults in America could be as blind (unaware) to prejudice, race, color and creed as our very young children are.

Speaking of bias and prejudice, while reading an article in the paper I read a statement by one of our leading local citizens about a number of protestors who have protested at Fort Ord many times in the past, and perhaps are students who are led or taught in our educational institution by subversives and who lean towards communistic tendencies. I would like to say that freedom in America means to me these things: Freedom of speech, thought and worship, and no one has the right to suppress these liberties that are the living examples that America was founded on. If you take these liberties away, you have a fascist element. It gets sort of sickening to hear so many of our "righteous leaders" still yelling about being liberal and being the very epitome of what a true American is. Yet they live and breathe in the shadow of an oppressive atmosphere and enjoy it.

As Julian Bond said, when one wants to speak out on the truth, he is labeled an "agitator". He continued, "It seems quite funny that an agitator is a Black element in the bottom of a washing machine that when turned on, brings all the dirt and filth to the top for everyone to see."

More pleasanter news about town: The Fireside Supper Club is doing big business under the direction of Managers Ed Watkins and Thony Martin. The "Brothers" have really gotten it together. The place is plush, the atmosphere is beautiful, the vibrations are very good, the food is excellent, and the owners are handsome. Right on to the Fireside Supper Club.

Celebration Is Planned

A grand celebration has been planned by the Guadalupe Society and El Teatro Campesino commemorating the 175th Anniversary of the founding of the mission in San Juan Bautista.

The small town of San Juan Bautista will host a variety of entertainment for the two-day fiesta observing this ancient religious holiday. The celebration will begin on Saturday, June 24, in the patio surrounding La Calavers Theater, 36 Washington Street, at 10 a.m. A continuous art show will be held throughout the day with such artists as: Alurista from San Diego, Ernie Palamino of Fresno, Ma-laquias Montoya of Berkeley, and Esteban Villa from Sacramento participating.

Music will be provided by the members of El Teatro Campesino including Los Cantinflampagos del Norte, and "Los Corridos" which won last year's Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle Award will be presented at 8:00 p.m. Puppets and children's stories will be provided by Rudy Espinoza whose presentations will be held Saturday and Sunday. Also for the children will be pinatas throughout the day.

Sunday's activities will be centered around the 5th Annual Fiesta Jamaica sponsored by the Guadalupe Society at the Mission gardens with food being served at 12 noon. Music will be provided by Frank Alvarez y sus Imperiales de Texas. Mass in Spanish will be said at 1 p.m. Activities begin at 10 a.m.

The observance of this religious holiday marks the growing cultural awareness of the town of San Juan Bautista whose history has roots in the Spanish-Mexican-Indian heritage of California. The town of San Juan Bautista invites everyone to help her celebrate this holiday. Admission to all activities will be free.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

By Verlaine Crawford
Manager

Progress is defined in Webster's Dictionary as a moving forward, a development, improvement, an advance toward perfection or to a higher state. Progress in the Seaside Chamber of Commerce is a matter of watching the laws of inertia in action.

Inertia is the tendency of matter to remain at rest, if it is standing still, or to keep moving in the same direction, unless it is affected by some outside force. The Chamber was standing still and might well have remained in that state without change, if the Board of Directors had not applied the force and energy needed to get it moving...and we are moving forward with haste.

The slide presentation on Tuesday, June 6, was outstanding. Over 70 representatives of the business and political community on the Peninsula attended the "Seaside Story" at Ingersoll Hall at the Navy Postgraduate School. The briefing was well received and it will be used by the Chamber to attract new business to Seaside.

At the luncheon following the presentation, Certificates of Appreciation were awarded Cmdr. Joe Nicholas and Lt. Cmdr. Steve Wilkins for this fine contribution to the City of Seaside.

The Wine Tasting Party and Get-Together, sponsored by the Chamber, held on June 7 at the Rot-Sea Corp., 2040 Fremont, was enjoyed by nearly 200 businessmen, residents and visitors from other cities on the Peninsula. Displays from various businesses, as well as the past and present pictures of Seaside

Race Is Next Weekend

At beautiful Laguna Seca Raceway where the passport is "More for Your Racing Dollar" Operation Phase II is underway.

It's in the form of the Olympia Sprint Weekend. Even in this age of inflation the 1972 Oly Sprint ticket Board, a committee was organized to study possible involvement and activities for youth in the City of Seaside.

Slides from the "Seaside Story" were shown to the delight of the guests who were unable to attend the slide presentation. The excellent band from King Junior High School in Seaside played beautifully for the guests, and it was obvious they deserve the title of Top Junior High School Band in Northern California.

The Board of Directors of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce are continuing to meet weekly on Thursday at 8 a.m.

Interested individuals are welcome to attend and become involved in the diverse topics that are under discussion.

At the last meeting of the prices have remained the same as they were for 1971--a bargain package no matter how its sliced.

To see how Laguna Seca is holding the line on inflated ticket prices, consider the following:

General admission for Friday, June 23, will be free if you have a Saturday or Sunday ticket. Saturday's general admission price is $2. The Sunday ducat is $4.50 if purchased in advance; the gate price will be $5. The best offering, though, for the fun who plans to enjoy the entire weekend of racing is the three-day combination, which is $35 in advance and $6 at the gate.

For those who wish to be as close to the action as possible, the VIP pass is available. This ticket includes general admission, a grandstand seat and access to the paddock area adjacent to the racing pits, for all three days. If purchased now it is $10; at the gate it will be $12. These tickets are now on sale in Monterey at Western Porsche-Audi, 1187 Del Monte Blvd.

For your money you'll see the fastest sports car drivers in the nation. They'll be racing over Laguna's famed 1.9 mile, 9-turn course chasing after points leading to the American Road Race of Champions, the SCCA's annual run-offs which determine sports car racing's national champions.

There will be exciting races both Saturday and Sunday. Plus you'll be able to see the important practice and qualifying rounds and on Sunday there will be a thrilling grand prix motorcycle race.

It all begins at 8:30 Friday morning and doesn't stop until the final race has been run on Sunday afternoon. So some early and stay late. Bring your suntan lotion and your funky hat. Racing is always fun at Laguna Seca.

The City of Seaside will be represented beautifully this year in the annual 4th of July Parade of Champions. What is beef quality?

If the beef you prepare is tender, properly trimmed, has no excess fat and is delicious to eat...that is quality.

At Lucky we have our own quality standards...standards that are specifically designed for our customer's needs and satisfaction.

Lucky beef is carefully selected from young tender beef, weighing from 550 lbs. to 650 lbs., that have a minimum of excess fat. We purchase beef to these specifications regardless of the U.S. Grade. Some U.S. Choice is too fat and wasteful to be selected for Lucky private label. Like all other private label items, we believe our beef offers you the best value for your money.

Actually, the "grades" of beef were established in 1916, not as a buying guide for consumers, but rather in the attempt to develop a market news reporting service for economists and statisticians. The Government trains and employs experts, men who inspect and grade beef all over the country. Their job is to protect the consumer and retailer. We are pleased to have U.S.D.A. inspectors within our own meat plants.

During the last 10 years, there has been a definite change in consumer meat demands. The consumer's tastes have changed from fat beef to a more lean, tender beef. As yet, there has not been a corresponding adjustment in the breeding and feeding of cattle to compensate for this consumer preference.

Recognizing this change in eating habits, Lucky buyers select beef that they believe will satisfy our customers by being lean, tender and flavorful. They select beef carcasses that have youth for tenderness and a minimal amount of fat.

Of course Lucky buyers select beef after it has been government inspected, but before it is graded. (For example, conformation of the carcass is a grading factor, but conformation has nothing to do with eating quality.) Lucky buyers look for beef that will be consistently excellent...beef that is youthful for maximum tenderness, and for a minimum amount of fat (marbling) to insure fine flavor. Lucky meat buyers want you to have beef that you can serve with pride and confidence anytime...anyday.

When all is said and done, grades of beef are guidelines for the buying and pricing of meat. Lucky Unconditionally Bonded meat is our guideline for offering complete satisfaction to our customers...offering the maximum of flavor and tenderness in every piece of meat you buy.

You be the judge. Lucky offers over 300 cuts of meat at low, everyday discount prices, backed by an unconditional money-back guarantee of satisfaction.

First MP's Graduate

The first class to be graduated from Fort Ord's Military Police Institute was told by Maj. Gen. H.G. Moore to "Be firm...courteous...and never over-react."

Speaking at the commencement exercise in Service Club One, General Moore, commanding general of this West Coast Army training center, concluded: "If you are honest and truthful in your performance of duty, I will back you 100 percent."

He also expressed his gratitude to the Monterey, Seaside, and Salinas police departments, as well as the county sheriff's department and the district attorney's office, for their assistance, which is "typical of the outstanding cooperation Fort Ord has with the local law enforcement agencies."

Forty-one soldiers in the institute's first class successfully completed eight weeks of military police advanced individual training, and 38 of them were on hand to receive their Army Certificates of Training from Colonel J.S. Oliver, Fort Ord Post

Class For Women Is Offered

The Monterey Adult School will offer a summer physical fitness course for women starting June 20, Principal Gerald Anderson has announced.

The eight-week course will be held Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9:30 in the Monterey High School girls' gymnasium.

Included in the classes will be swimming, yoga, jogging and calisthenics.

More information can be obtained by calling the instructor, Pat K Skinner, at 394-8940.

Marshall. The three others were transferred from the post prior to graduation.

Dr. David Hopkins, acting dean of instruction at Monterey Peninsula College presented his school's certificates of completion to the new military policemen. They earned four college credits for the 120 hours of civilian police instruction taught at the Institute by MPC's police science faculty.

Will Earn Diplomas

As many as 200 high school diplomas may be earned by Army personnel at Fort Ord through a Pre-Discharge Education Program (PREP) set to begin at the post's education center July 3.

The program, to be funded by the Veterans Administration and operated by the Monterey Adult School, will run in eight cycles through August, 1973. It is designed to offer courses necessary for completion of high school diploma requirements, according to Gerald Anderson, adult school principal.

Anderson said the education program will be geared to fit the needs and the educational standings of individual students.

Classes will be held on a half-day basis five days a week, with each cycle lasting 12 weeks. Twenty-five to 30 students will be enrolled in each cycle.

Military personnel may obtain information about the program by calling the Fort Ord Education Center.

ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everyone, TODAY'S ARMY NEWS is about a SPECIAL ENLISTMENT BONUS. If you can qualify, we have an enlistment bonus for you young men enlisting in certain careers in the Infantry, Armor and Artillery. The plan calls for payment of $1,500 for a four-year enlistment. The bonus is payable in full following successful completion of basic and advance training. This normally occurs about four months after enlistment, depending on the career field selected.

Men with prior service are eligible for the bonus plan if they have less than three years active service and have not previously received a reenlistment bonus and meet certain other requirements.

Besides professional training, young men in the bonus plan will also be eligible to volunteer for the widest range of enlistment travel option ever offered by the Army. These include guaranteed assignments to Europe, Alaska, Hawaii, Far East and Panama, as well as units of choice in different parts of the United States. As you should already know, the starting pay for an enlisted man is $288 a month. The Special Enlistment Bonus is a limited option so don't wait too long.

VA Changes Policies On Proof

A lost birth certificate or marriage license no longer poses the problem it once did for veterans seeking veterans benefits, J.E. Mullen, Director of San Francisco VA Regional Office, reports.

Less formal proof of marriage and birth is now acceptable, under a regulation initiated last October, when this information is needed to establish claims for higher benefit payments.

A veteran's or a widow's certified statement of marriage is now sufficient for applications for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows and orphan children, provided neither he nor his wife has been married before, and VA has no contradictory information on file.

Prior to the change in regulations, VA required all statements of marriages and births to be supported by formalized documentary evidence.

A certified statement is acceptable also regarding the birth of a child of a veteran's marriage, and as proof of age and relationship, Mullen said.

MAKE DONATION - Allen A. Belton, director of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, got check recently from human relations committee at Colton Junior High School in Monterey. Student members of committee sponsored school dance and decided to donate proceeds to NYC. Belton told them he would use money "to help do some things for disadvantaged kids." Colton's human relations committee, made up of 15 ninth graders, is interested in furthering better relations among students of all races and has met with similar committees at other secondary schools in Monterey Peninsula Unified School District to that end, according to J.L. Rucker, committee advisor. Presenting check to Belton were Adrienne Clayton, left and Mar Sato, 1970 census.

Beetle Sets Record For World-Wide Popularity

The recently produced 15 millionth Volkswagen Beetle shares the stage with a Model T Ford at TRANSPO 72, currently in Washington D.C.

A look-alike of the record setting Beetle, the "VW Champion" is now on display at authorized Volkswagen dealers.

The Champion -- in metallic silver-blue with wide spoke sports wheels -- commemorates the production of the milestone 15 millionth Beetle.

Less than 6,000 of this special Super Beetle have been produced for the entire United States.

BEAT THE 'T'

The Beetle has surpassed the Model T production record of 15,007,033, which stood since 1927.

No other single model has ever been produced in volume approaching 15 million units.

The Beetle on display at TRANSPO will become part of the Smithsonian Institution's auto collection following the exposition.

Volkswagen production began in 1945 when 1,785 vehicles were built. Ten years later, one million had been manufactured.

Current production is 5,800 units daily -- the highest output ever -- and the Beetle will reach the 15,500,000 mark by the end of June.

Beetle's world-wide popularity is unparalleled in automotive history. Over 5 million have been sold in Germany and over 4 million in the United States. Brazil ranks third with one million.

There are nearly 10,000 Volkswagen sales and service facilities in 140 countries around the world, including 1,200 authorized dealerships in the United States.

Six Volkswagens have been delivered to mainland China and three to Antarctica.

'Black Bill Of Rights' Proposed

Last Thursday, at a news conference in the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington, D.C., the Congressional Black Caucus issued a proposed "Black Bill of Rights" containing what some caucus members call "non-negotiable demands."

The caucus members threaten to withhold Black support of the Presidential nominee of the Democratic Party unless the document that a Beetle watcher would find Volkswagens in every country in the world.

The Volkswagen air-cooled, rear-engine design has endured, although each of the more than 5,000 parts that make up the car has been improved over the years.

The 1972 model displayed at TRANSPO has a space-age innovation -- a computerized self-analysis system.

'ACADEMIC'

"The Democratic National Convention might be just an academic exercise" unless the party does accept all of the demands, according to CBC's former chairman, Representative Charles C. Diggs, Jr. (D, Michigan).

Some CBC members expressed confidence that the document would prove acceptable to the Democratic Party, thus averting a possible Black revolt.

Some 500 Black delegates are expected to attend the convention.

Representative Louis Stokes (D, Ohio) said that the document would be presented to the party's platform committee and that in the event it failed there it would be brought to the floor of the Democratic Convention which is to be held in July in Miami. He referred to the demands as "minimum."

'NON-NEGOTIABLE'

Both Congressman William Clay (D, Missouri) and Congressman Ron Dellums (D, California) termed the demands as "non-negotiable."

"The Democrats can take them or leave them," said Clay, adding that the consequences of leaving them would be defeat for the Democratic candidate in November.

Will Visit Colleges To Urge Positive Attitude

With the recent completion of his first motion picture, Black director Mark Warren is preparing to set out on a small odyssey of his own. He plans to visit American colleges and universities and hold informal sessions with students, trying to give them an insight into what it's all about and promoting to them a positive attitude toward their futures.

A positive attitude is very clearly a workable aspect of Mark's own character. He is cool, optimistic, ambitious and dedicated. After directing 72 hours of TV's "Laugh-In" and becoming an Emmy-winner for same, Mark was signed to direct "Come Back Charleston Blue," Samuel Goldwyn, Jr.'s, motion picture production for Warner Bros. release. It is a sequel to the highly successful "Cotton Comes to Harlem," the first of the Chester Himes stories to be filmed.

For almost three months, Mark bounced his mostly Black crew all over New York City, mainly in Harlem, putting together the wonderful new adventures of Gravedigger Jones and Coffin Ed Johnson, inimitably played again by Godfrey Cambridge and Raymond St. Jacques, respectively.

Because most of his life has been entertainment - motivated, one of Mark's goals on his forthcoming campus tour, he declares, is to try to provide Black youngsters with a sense of ambition and a desire to find careers in radio and TV, where the director feels the opportunities are wide for talent and perseverance.

At 33, Mark Warren is something of an old hand. He launched his career as a producer-director with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Toronto when he was in his early '20s. He did three shows, each of them running for 42 weeks.

"The better each of us does," he says, "the better we all do." His entry into United States network television came when he was chosen to direct "Soul," an all-Black musical comedy special for NBC. He directed "TCB," with Diana Ross, the Supremes and the Temptations; "The Best on Record; The Grammy Award Show"; "Curiosity Shop," a pilot for a children's series; "Soul Train," the first all-Black dance party, and the West Coast portions of "The

On May 11, 1972, the Representative
Council of the Monterey Bay Teachers Association voted unanimously to state publicly that we believe:

1. That education should be provided from early childhood through adulthood, be suited to the needs of the individual, be nonsegregated, and be offered at public expense.
2. That policies and guidelines for school desegregation in all parts of the nation must be strengthened and must comply with judicial decisions and with civil rights legislation.
3. That acceptable desegregation plans will include a variety of devices such as geographic realignment, pairing of schools, grade pairing, and satellite schools.
4. That desegregation arrangements may require that some students be bussed in order to implement desegregation plans.
5. That all laws of this nation apply equally to all persons without regard to race, sex, or geographic location.

Grew Up In Harlem

Tony Franciosa, currently filming the motion picture, "Across 110th Street", in East Harlem near where he spent his boyhood, recently told David Frost that living in Harlem was not a tough upbringing.

"My childhood was one of tremendous excitement and a lot of fun," he said. "The only terrible thing about a ghetto is that nowhere are you exposed to what life can offer you, what you can be attracted to. It's just one thing in the street: you get into trouble. Today, because of the drug scene trouble is a very serious thing."

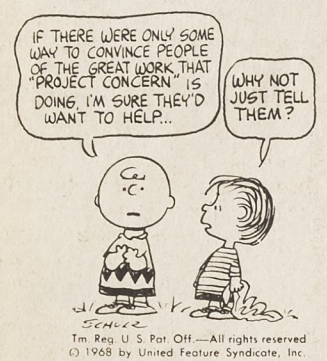

Franciosa discussed how he became involved in race riots. "I was in race riots that were never publicized. I went to Benjamin Franklin High School. We were 50 percent white and 50 percent Black. In these particular incidents a lot of the turmoil was established by adults on the outside."

Brock Peters, the star of the Broadway revival of the Kurt Weill-Maxwell Anderson musical about Blacks in South Africa "Lost in the Stars" told Frost that "life in Harlem was tough but it was possible." He added: "Today I doubt if life in Harlem or any of our cities is possible."

PROJECT CONCERN

Project Concern is in the serious business of saving lives - precious, human lives of mountain people in Appalachia, Navajo in Bisti, New Mexico, migrant farm workers in the Rio Grande Valley, Texas, canyon dwellers in Mexico, refugees in Hong Kong, and devastated peoples in South Vietnam. In these areas, where too many people suffer needlessly from hunger, disease, and hopelessness, Project Concern's dedicated medical, dental, and educational staff is busy fighting these afflictions, training local residents in basic self-sufficiency, and teaching the techniques of preventive medicine. When Dr. Jim Turpin began Project Concern in 1961, he wanted the organization to be international, independent, and free of any political or religious ties. The spirit of his movement has caught on. Today, with medical staff from dozens of nations and financial support from five continents, Project Concern has become an effective way for those committed to human love to express their love in a practical way.

With each new person who supports Project Concern, our ability to touch more lives grows. That's why Project Concern needs you. Without your help, someone, somewhere, will find no relief for his pain, and no hope for his future.

ACT Is 'People-Mover'

Last week, Henry Ford II said in a speech before the International Conference on Transportation and the Environment, in Washington, D.C., that the nation now needs to develop and apply "entirely new public transportation concepts."

He announced plans to build a public transportation system in Dearborn, Michigan, for a real estate development surrounding Ford's world headquarters.

HOW IT WORKS

Known as ACT, the Ford automatically controlled transportation system is a driverless, rubber-tired vehicle system controlled by a computer.

It uses lightweight aerial guideways and automotive and electronic technology.

An ACT prototype is one of the principal attractions of the TRANSPO 72 exposition in Washington, at Dulles Airport. It can accommodate 24 passengers -- 12 seated and 12 standing.

CONFIDENT

Ford said: "Our tentative plans for the first phase of this installation call for two miles of guideway, at least four stations and seven ACT vehicles.

Ford said the company was entering the public transit business, even though this decision meant that an automobile company would be promoting "the development of viable alternatives to the automobile for many urban trips."

How to get the most out of a refrigerator-freezer:

Freeze leftovers in foil to provide another quick meal later.

Freeze soups and sauces in ice cube trays, then store the cubes in plastic bags.

Stock up on food sale specials and save money.

If you need extra ice for special occasions, fill plastic bags with cubes a few days ahead and store in freezer compartment.

Cover or wrap butter, margarine and cheese so they won't absorb flavors in the refrigerator section.
